

The British Pteridological Society

From: Yvonne Golding <secretary@eBPS.org.uk>
Sent: 11 April 2017 11:36
To:
Subject: BPS Spring Meeting Change of programme

Dear All

There has been a change in the programme for the BPS Spring Meeting on 22nd April as published in the Bulletin and on our website.

James Merryweather is unable to give his talk at the meeting but at very short notice Dean Lomax

www.deanrlomax.co.uk

has agreed to fill in. He is a talented and keen young palaeontologist with some good books under his belt. He is an authority on the fossils of the Whitby coast which he will be talking about. I've asked him to talk about ferns and plant fossils but bear with him when he gets excited about dinosaurs!

Please make him feel welcome and also chat to any non-bps members that you spot. Other speakers you may not have met are Alastair Fitter author of the classic wild flower book amongst others and keen supporter of YWT and Yorkshire Arboretum - he was also one of my tutors at university. Richard Middleton is a BSBI and Hull Nats member, a geographer by trade but also a keen and knowledgeable botanist and is VC recorder for our county of East Yorkshire.

There may be some members from Hull Naturalists, Hardy Plant Society, Friends of Thwaite Botanic Gardens, Yorkshire Wildlife Trust and Yorks Naturalist Union. Well they've all been invited!

Please bring any spare plants to sell including non-ferns as there should be folk with a wide range of interests.

I look forward to seeing many of you at the AGM. Please send any apologies to Ann ahaskins@talktalk.net

Best Wishes

Yvonne

Dr. Y.C.Golding

General Secretary

British Pteridological Society

Registered Charity No. 1092399

www.ebps.org.uk